In case of snow…

As we welcome you to our new community center, the Knoxville News Sentinel reminds us that the Town of Farragut is committed to providing a high level of service. Farragut’s snow removal policy is to provide plowed, passable streets to all residents. Once streets are made passable, the Town will make every effort to clear other Farragut streets. Kingston Pike and Concord Road are state roads and therefore are maintained by the Tennessee Department of Transportation.

Farragut trucks with snowplows will go on snow routes in an attempt to make passable. A list of routes was approved by the Board of Mayor and Aldermen in December. Once these streets have been made passable, residents will be continually plowed and maintained in an attempt to make passable. From the Desk of the Mayor…

I hope everyone had a wonderful holiday season and that 2018 is starting off with several exciting events.

The most exciting event is the opening of the new Farragut Community Center. This facility has been a dream for the Town, and on Jan. 31, it will become a reality. Farragut and Knox County leaders have worked closely together on the Town’s 40th anniversary to cut the ribbon on the combined community center and West Knox County Senior Center, and residents will have the opportunity to tour the building following the ribbon-cutting ceremony. This is an significant accomplishment for our Town, and I’m excited about the activities, educational opportunities and recreation that will take place in this brand new facility.

Read more about it on page 4 of Talk of the Town.

The opening of the community center is the culmination of countless hours of work by our staff. Brad McKelvey and the Public Works Department have been responsible for ongoing maintenance of this building and additional work during the renovation, and Sue Stahl and the Parks & Recreation Department have spent months researching how other communities use their community centers and planning how we will use ours. The oversight of the renovations has also been an awesome task, and I commend the staff for their dedication.

The first public event scheduled at the community center is the inaugural Farragut Photography Show. Now is the time for amateur photographers to register for this show, which is sponsored by the Farragut Arts & Beautification Committee. Cash prizes will be awarded in several categories! Selected photos will be on display Feb. 23-21. See the event on the Town of Farragut Facebook page for more information.

The 2018 Songwriters Showcase will be another great opportunity to enjoy the community center. A special screening of live music and film is planned for Saturday, Feb. 21, and you won’t want to miss it.

Ticket sales go on sale in January. Watch for more details on Visit Farragut website.

The opening of the community center reminds me how far our Town has come over the past 40 years and how our future will be promising. Thank you to everyone who has made Farragut the community we are today. I’m proud to have been a part of so many positive changes.

Mayor Ron Williams

Staying in touch with the Town

There are several ways for community members to stay informed about Town of Farragut events, programs, meetings and services. The Town of Farragut website, townoffarragut.org, has information sheets will be available on the Town’s website at townoffarragut.org and Pertinent information to ahigginbotham@townoffarragut.org.

Let it snow!

Snow in Farragut is a rare but welcome sight (especially for students). Though we might not get as much snow in Farragut as we have in years past, it is still important to remember that snow melts in a variety of ways.

Heavy rains carry pollutants down storm drains and onto our local water ways untreated. Snow melt can do the same thing. Winter stormwater can cause problems that are different from summer stormwater.

Because of this decreased infiltration, snow melt may run off the soil and onto non-permeable surfaces such as roads. Here are a few tips to help reduce the impact of snow melt on local storm drains and pavements:

• Shovel snow onto areas that have high rates of infiltration (ground, permeable pavers, etc.) This is particularly effective if the top layer of soil has not yet frozen.
• Remove snow that is around or blocking storm drains.
• Clear downspouts to prevent water from entering the storm drain.
• Do not shovel snow directly into any drain that leads to a waterbody.
• Use road salts minimally and only during temperatures at which they are effective (see manufacturer directions).

Make sure to do your part the next time it snows and then, once the snowing is done, go out and play in it!
